

Ben Mason

Artist, Musician, Song-Writer

Ben Mason is an accomplished musician and artist. His mixed media constructions have been influenced by the philosophy of Aboriginal Tribal Art. His works contains artifacts, found objects and pieces from nature that have some deeper calling.

Ben lives in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains on the site of a 3000 year old Indian village. While creating at his home in Castleton, he feels the passage of those who came before him. Though some of his work may evolve accidentally, most of his creations contain mysterious, concealed images and each with a story to be told.

"Life is more than what the living can see"
