

Marilyn Hayes

Artist, Painter, Printmaker

Marilyn studied drawing, painting and printmaking at the Washington Studio School and works primarily in watercolor, monotype and encaustic mediums. She exhibits her work both nationally and internationally.

Marilyn's paintings expresses the power of myth and symbols arising from ancient cultures. Being in tune to the swirling energy of the natural world fascinates and inspires her. Working with bold colors and movement she brings life to her art.

"We are all a part of nature - we are rooted in it. It is essential that we do all we can to keep that connection alive. Our souls, our inner lives require it."
