Metalsmith, Jewelry Designer

Long time Rappahannock resident, Maureen Day is an artist, dancer, choreographer, teacher and gardener who has recently returned home after a five year residency in Northern California, where she learned the art of metalsmithing.

Mosie’s original designs are fabricated in forged copper and other repurposed metals, including bronze, brass and cupronickel, and silver. Mo prides herself on using recycled, and found objects including antique telegraph wire and old coins. Influenced by her love of movement, improvisation and gesture, her pieces have a dynamic and spontaneous quality, recently described as "rough and sophisticated".
