

SALLY MELLO

Truly an “artisan” Sally Mello is a multi-talented artist. She’s a painter of large canvases mostly featuring images of the Rappahannock area. She designs and makes the most wonderfully whimsical hooked rugs. She also finds time to deal in antiques, run a Christmas tree farm and grow vegetables for sale at local Farmer’s Market.

Sally is classically trained having majored in studio arts at Brown University and the Rhode Island School of Design where she studied painting and woodblock printing. The woodblock printing provided a strong foundation in design which she utilizes with each original work she creates.
