

Susan Raines:

I spent many years as a free lance photographer doing magazine and newspaper work in Atlanta, GA, Washington, DC and London.

I also taught photography in the Journalism Department at the University of Maryland and worked at the Corcoran Gallery of Art, Art Services International, two commercial art galleries and at the National Endowment for the Arts.

In addition to showing my work at the Middle Street Gallery, I also show it at the Studio Gallery in Washington, DC www.studiogallerydc.com. More of my photographs are available for viewing or purchasing on my website www.susanrainesphotography.com.
